

The years after school and the transition to becoming a young adult can involve lots of decisions, change and uncertainty.

Last time we spoke to you, at age 17/18...

47%

of you were still at school

5%

of you were at university

61%

of you had a job

22%

of you were at college

12%

were in an apprenticeship or other employment training

Your jobs ranged from Apprentice Mechanic to Waitress, and almost everything in between!

But we know things will have changed. We'll be in touch again in the coming months to hear how you are getting on now.

We'd love to understand more about what life as a young adult in Scotland is like today.

One of the unique things about Growing Up in Scotland is that, by following you and everyone else in the study over time, we collect really important information about the changes that take place in your lives. This means that we can help the Scottish Government understand what challenges and barriers you face, and what support you need to achieve your goals.

Thank you very much for giving up your time to take part in GUS over so many years. The information you have given so far has provided incredible insight into the lives of young people in Scotland.

growing up in Scotland

Have your details changed? Please let us know.

If your contact details have changed since we last spoke to you, including your email, mobile number or address, please email us at gus@scotcen.org.uk, call us on 0800 652 3751 or scan the QR code above and contact us via our website.

growingupinScotland.org.uk
@growingupinScot